

CLASS OF 2013 PROFILE

THE CLASS OF 2013 was selected from the largest applicant pool in the Law School's history. The 368 students in the class come from 42 states, the District of Columbia and seven foreign countries, and attended 155 undergraduate institutions. The Class of 2013 also is the most ethnically diverse class on record: 29 percent identify themselves as minority students.

LIFE BEFORE LAW SCHOOL

TESTING THE LEGAL WATERS Members of the Class of 2013 have worked at law firms as paralegals and interns, but many obtained perspective on lawyering and public policy from working in European parliaments, on Capitol Hill and for the governments of France, Ireland, Canada and the United Kingdom.

FEDERAL PUBLIC SERVICE Members of the Class of 2013 worked for the U.S. departments of Justice, State, Commerce, Homeland Security, Agriculture, and Health and Human Services, as well as the National Park Service, the Federal Communications Commission, the National Security Agency, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Central Intelligence Agency, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Social Security Administration. Others have served in the military, including as an anti-submarine warfare officer and an intelligence officer at the Air Force Special Operations Command. Several students served in AmeriCorps, the Peace Corps and Teach for America.

"I HAVE ALWAYS WANTED TO BECOME A LAWYER and give back to my government and my community through public service. UVA has such a great reputation for providing law students with the tools necessary to do that. Plus, the faculty and students are friendly, and the Grounds are beautiful. I knew I wanted to come here after the first time I visited."

—BENITA WILLIAMS graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and was most recently stationed in Norfolk, Va.

FAST FACTS

170 Median LSAT
166-171 25%-75% LSAT
3.85 Median GPA
3.51-3.92 25%-75% GPA
24 Average age
(range is 20 to 37)
368 Students enrolled
from among 8,560
applicants
56% men
44% women
29% identify themselves
as ethnic minorities
65% have work
experience after college
2 Average number of
post-college years
11% have graduate degrees

GEOGRAPHIC REPRESENTATION

Students come from 42 states, the District of Columbia, and seven foreign countries. In addition to Virginia, the following states are represented by five or more students:

New York	27	Massachusetts	10
California	20	New Jersey	10
Texas	19	Ohio	9
Florida	17	Utah	9
Georgia	16	Pennsylvania	7
North Carolina	15	Tennessee	6
Maryland	14	Alabama	5
Washington, D.C.	12	Arizona	5
Illinois	11	Washington	5

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS come from Canada, China, England, South Korea, Japan, Nigeria and Zimbabwe.

UNDERGRADUATE SCHOOLS Members of the Class of 2013 come from 155 undergraduate schools. Schools with five or more alumni include:

University of Virginia 38	Princeton University 6
Duke University 14	University of California - Los Angeles 6
College of William and Mary 12	University of Pennsylvania 6
University of Florida 10	Vanderbilt University 6
University of North Carolina 9	Georgia Tech 5
Brigham Young University 8	University of Georgia 5
	University of Texas 5

LOCAL PUBLIC SERVICE

Some entering students worked in governor's offices in Arizona, Virginia and California; the Offices of Attorneys General in Illinois, New York, Maryland, North Carolina and Michigan; and the chambers of federal and state judges across the country. Others worked for local government organizations such as the Seattle Public Utilities Commission and the Employee Retirement System of Texas.

PRIVATE INDUSTRY

Many members of the class have been analysts, consultants or researchers with private-sector firms, think tanks, institutes, and foundations. They have worked as teachers, salesmen, investigative journalists, editors, bloggers, film production interns, radio DJs, construction workers, real estate agents, software testers, bartenders and restaurant staff, patent examiners, engineers, freelance Web developers, a wine wholesaler, a gallery docent, a freelance photographer, a pharmaceutical sales representative, an auto mechanic, a fundraiser, an ice rink operator, an antiques dealer, an air traffic controller, a grocery store butcher, a professor of social work, a seamstress, a pawn shop manager, a day care director, a soft soap factory machine operator, a figure skating judge, an embassy interpreter, a fencing instructor, a party planner, a voice actor, an importer/exporter, a libertarian talk radio show host, an auto parts distributor, a fashion model, a tennis pro, a diamond buyer, a consumer credit counselor, a fraud examiner and a ranch hand.

WORKING ABROAD

Members of the Class of 2013 have worked in business consulting in Saudi Arabia, in radio broadcasting in Korea, at an international labor union in Switzerland, in the finance sector in China and Scotland, for members of parliament in Ireland and Scotland, as a community development intern in Ghana, at a restaurant in Greece, as a botanist in South Africa, in an opera company in the Czech Republic and Hungary, and as a winter sports instructor in New Zealand. Many more have also worked, lived or volunteered abroad and are proficient in numerous foreign languages.

ACADEMIC BACKGROUNDS

Class members have undergraduate and graduate degrees in accounting, aerospace engineering, American civilization, anthropology, architecture, art history, biology, biomedical engineering, business administration, chemistry, child development, civil engineering, classics, computer engineering, computer science, criminal justice, drama, economics, electrical engineering, English, environmental design, finance, French, German, history, industrial relations, international relations, journalism, linguistics, literature, mathematics, mechanical engineering, music, philosophy, physics, political science, pre-law, psychology, public affairs, religion, Russian, sociology, Spanish and transportation. A total of 129 members of the class pursued more than one major.

IN THEIR SPARE TIME

VOLUNTEERS

Members of the Class of 2013 have participated in a variety of volunteer and extracurricular pursuits. These include service and advocacy on behalf of children, the environment, the mentally and physically disabled, the homeless, the wrongfully imprisoned, senior citizens, victims of domestic or sexual abuse, people battling addiction and migrant farm workers. Others saved lives as volunteer firefighters, tutored and mentored students, taught English and other languages in the United States and abroad, served as missionaries, and fundraised and campaigned for political candidates at the local, state and national level. Finally, a few have pledged their entire future to the oldest volunteer institution around: parenthood.

FOR FUN

There are very few couch potatoes in a class whose members have enjoyed dancing (ballroom, latin, ballet, jazz, lyrical, swing, flamenco, ballet folklorico, bellydance), being NCAA athletes, scuba diving and numerous sports, including boxing, horseback riding, racquetball, rock climbing, broomball, bodybuilding, basketball, football, soccer, surfing, wakeboarding and kickball. Others have acted in Shakespeare productions, practiced marksmanship, competed in mediation tournaments, restored vintage automobiles, sewed medieval and 1950s period costumes, fenced, practiced shorin-ryu karate, competed in triathlons and practiced astrophotography for fun. The class includes an eight-time world champion unicyclist, the creator of a prize-winning Oscar Meyer advertisement and a helicopter pilot.

"I CHOSE UVA LAW because I felt that it had the greatest balance of serious academic rigor, tradition, quality of life and employment prospects of any top school I was considering. I know that I'm getting my legal education in a place I'll enjoy remembering and visiting the rest of my life."

—JONATHAN GYNN has lived in Canada, England and France and graduated from Brigham Young University

CLASS OF 2013 PROFILE
www.law.virginia.edu/admissions

CONTACT

Jason Wu Trujillo
 (434) 924-7351
lawadmit@virginia.edu

