Dear Hardy:

I have just returned from Milwaukee and only now have a chance to write to tell you how much I enjoyed seeing you again and meeting Val. If you return to the Hague in August and if your schedule permits, I would like to come to the Hague for another chat and to look over "the physical assets," as the bankers say, of the Court. Of course I would particularly like to see the Court in session if that is apt to occur this year.

My wife Junko was sorry not to be able to meet you and hopes, as do I, that one day you will visit us in Provence. In the interim we have a request. We wonder whether you have an official, or preferably an unofficial, photographer, and, if so, whether we might hope for an informal photograph of you. I would like to put this in my office where the rogues gallery consists exclusively of a silhouette of Thomas Jefferson, a pen portrait of John F. Kennedy and photos of Hugo Black, Mark Twain, and Pablo Picasso. I would like to add your photo and Dan Meador's, but I have not yet worked up the courage to ask Dan.

In sum, the company would, I believe, be acceptable to you. I cannot promise that I shall add no other rogues, but I have no immediate plans to do so, although if I ran across a photo of Holmes, I would certainly like him included.

With best wishes to you and Val, I remain

As ever,
