and substitute the following:

"Mr. BERNSTEIN (Co-ordinating Board of Jewish Organizations for Consultation with the Economic and Social Council) stated that in its capacity as a consultative body to the United Nations, his organization had the responsibility to make suggestions to the Commission on Human Rights. His organization, believing that it could promote progress, had drafted suggestions and discussed them informally with half a dozen delegations. Then, on 13 June, the drafts having been favourably received by certain members of the Commission, his organization had drafted a formal resolution and forwarded it to the Secretary-General. These proposals had been circulated to the Human Rights Commission on the following day as document E/C.2/201. He was sure that his organization had intended no offence to any delegation. On the contrary, he expressed his appreciation for the great work done by the Commission during the current session. Mr. Bernstein said that it was clear that the resolution adopted by the Commission was essentially the same as that proposed by the Co-ordinating Board of Jewish Organizations in its official capacity."
